Daubert Cromwell Names Product Manager, Rust Preventive Liquids

ALSIP, IL -- Daubert Cromwell announces Jamie Powell as its Product Manager-Rust Preventive Liquids. Powell will work with Daubert Cromwell's international sales team to market and sell Nox-Rust® brand rust preventive liquids to industrial customers in all metalworking markets.

Powell, of Burlington, ON, has 20+ years of technical sales and applications experience in industrial liquids. His background is developing coatings, methods, and liquid-based corrosion solutions for a wide range of customers, including automotive and heavy equipment manufacturers. He has in-depth knowledge of Nox-Rust liquids and understands their performance capabilities at every stage, from metal fabrication to storage and export of finished parts.

As Product Manager, Powell will provide training, technical evaluations, on-site and complete product selection assistance for Daubert Cromwell customers.

Besides liquids, Daubert Cromwell has a complete line of VCI packaging papers, films, emitters, foams, powders and devices to prevent metals from corrosion. The company has operations in the US, Mexico, China, Southeast Asia, India, Europe, plus distributor partners in 26 countries.
