Daubert Cromwell Addresses Corrosion Solutions at International Conference

May, 2013 – Preventing corrosion on metal surfaces was the theme of Daubert Cromwell’s presentation at the annual meeting of the Rubber Roller Group in Charlotte, NC. Regional Sales Manager Stephen Rafferty was a guest speaker at the 3-day event, educating members about the value of corrosion inhibitor packaging to protect metals during manufacture, storage and shipment.

In addition to his speaker duties, Rafferty spent one-on-one time with members during the Mini Expo session, discussing specific applications, methods and products to solve corrosion issues. Rafferty was an invited guest of Joe Wolf, Vice President of long-time Daubert Cromwell distributor Knox & Schneider of Chicago. Together, he and Wolf gave instruction on how VCI works and the advantages of using rust preventive paper, films, and liquids, as well as technical and packaging design ideas to booth attendees.

Stephen Rafferty, Mid-Atlantic Regional Manager for Daubert Cromwell, addressed the 2013 meeting of the Rubber Roller Group. Rafferty spoke about the value of protecting metal surfaces against corrosion.
